The always attractive rooms of the Exchange for Women's Work are in these days very gay and festive with the flower-decked tables, the sweet music, the delicious luncheon, and the charming women and pretty girls who welcome the crowd which comes from 10:30 to 1:30 o'clock to the demonstration of Mrs. Daniel, and who later so deftly serves the delicious luncheon from 12 to 2:30 o'clock. The use of Mrs. Daniel's "Old" is a revelation to many, and it will surely replace in the homes of the more progressive the lady which has for so many years been the favorite medium. The proceeds of the luncheon and the sale of the oil benefit the Exchange, which is of great inestimable help, not only to the workers whose beautiful articles are on sale there, but to the housekeepers and women generally of our city.

PRIMARY IN WILMINGTON.
Outcome of Election Considered Bad Defeat for Prohibitionists.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Wilmington, N. C., May 19.—The Democratic county primary election, which was marked principally by sensational charges against the county officers in power, for winking at the flagrant violations of the prohibition laws, was held here yesterday. The election, which was inaugurated, and being new, the voting was slow and the count to-night even slower. Many votes were thrown out, being incorrectly marked, and a number of voters were kept from voting on account of the lack of time. Indications point to a big victory for the present administration and for the Senator and member of the House of Representatives, who were backed by the anti-Prohibitionists. The present recorder, ex-Chief of Police John J. Furlong, who was charged with "standing in" with the "blind dieters," and who is a pronounced anti-Prohibitionist, defeated ex-Congressman Alfred M. Waddell, who, though also an anti-Prohibitionist, was run by the Good Government Association, in the hopes of beating Furlong. The present outcome is undoubtedly a bad defeat for the Prohibitionists.

Va., had an arm and a leg cut off, and four negroes were injured, all of them having narrow escapes. The prisoners were not handcuffed when the accident occurred. Jordan was brought to a hospital here, where his two limbs were amputated. The negroes were taken to the camp and cared for.

GREAT INCREASE IN "BLOCKADING"
"Dryness" of Various States Is Adding to Government's Expense.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, D. C., May 19.—In a recent statement before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations, Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue made some very interesting observations in connection with the experience of the Treasury Department with "wet and dry" territory.

In urging that his appropriation be $150,000 instead of $100,000 he said: "Owing to the fact that a large amount of territory has recently changed, on account of State legislation, from license to no-license territory, the amount of moonshining and blockading has increased enormously."

Year after year there has been an increase in the number of illicit stills captured from 1,130 in 1908 to 1,743 in 1909. The greater number of these increases took place in dry territory, Georgia, North Carolina, etc. The number of arrests increased from 323 to 358. We had previously all reported by our field force, and during the year ending June 30, 1909, we disposed of 3,786 criminal cases."

The chairman of the committee asked: "How do the number of criminal cases arising now in the States where prohibition laws have been enacted compare with the number of cases in these States prior to the enactment of such prohibition legislation?"

"A very great increase, a notable increase," was the reply.

"Give us the concrete increase." In Georgia last year, there were 234 distilleries seized and destroyed. For the year ending June 30, 1909, there were 623.

"In North Carolina, which has recently gone dry, the proportion is just about the same. In the States where prohibition laws have been enacted, the number of violations since the State went dry. And the experience in those States are only indicative of the conditions existing elsewhere in the so-called dry country."

These figures show a Southern States must see sooner or later.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Charlotte, N. C., May 19.—Fire which originated in the barn of the Charlotte Casket Company last night ignited the big plant of the Cochrane Show Case Company adjoining, and in two hours reduced it to ashes. Firemen had an uphill fight to prevent the spread of the conflagration, but won, saving from destruction a number of valuable manufacturing establishments in the immediate vicinity. The loss will reach $20,000, with little insurance. Several delegates representing a membership of 6,000 in Virginia.

WIFE OF AERONAUT PRISONER IN JAIL

Mrs. A. Holland Forbes Arrested as Result of Alienation Suit.

HUSBAND OFFERS BAIL

She Has Failed to Satisfy Judgment Secured by Wife of Chauffeur.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bridgeport, Conn., May 19.—Mrs. Jessie Livingston Forbes, wife of A. Holland Forbes, the famous New York aeronaut, and defendant in the sensational alienation suit brought by Mrs. Ida Rowley, of New York, was taken to the county jail here to-day because she had failed to satisfy the judgment for $3,750 obtained against her by Mrs. Rowley. Mrs. Forbes is still confined within the jail limits, notwithstanding that her husband has furnished a bond of $5,000 for her.

Mrs. Forbes returned from Kentucky just after her wife had been taken to jail. He had not entirely recovered from his injuries received in the fall of his balloon at Centre, Metcalf county, Ky.

In the Rowley suit Mrs. Forbes was charged with alienating the affections of Ernest Rowley, her chauffeur. Mrs. Rowley sued for $75,000 damages. She alleged that she had fifty-six letters written by Mrs. Forbes to her chauffeur, which she would produce at the trial.

It was further alleged by the suing wife that "two years prior to November 1, 1906, the defendant met Ernest Rowley at different times and places, and by her acts, arts, blandishments, wiles and seductions alienated from the plaintiff the love and affection of her husband, Ernest Rowley."

It was also further alleged that "the defendant has at different times and places during the two years prior to the date in November, 1906, acted improperly with the plaintiff's husband."

Mrs. Forbes denied the charges against her in the suit, and characterized the suit as an effort at blackmail. Mr. Forbes declared that it was an attempt to blackmail him, and swore that he would defend the action to the last ditch. When the case was called for trial on April 18 last, however, Mrs. Forbes did not appear, and judgment was taken against her by default. Judge Curtis assessed damages at $3,750. Deputy Sheriff Doolan was assigned to collect the judgment from Mrs. Forbes.

The Forbeses have a beautiful summer home at Fairfield. The deputy sheriff failed to find Mrs. Forbes until to-day. Although she was technically under arrest, Mrs. Forbes was treated with every courtesy by the deputy sheriff and every opportunity was offered her to obtain her freedom by paying bail.

Later, Mrs. Forbes was released in $3,000 bail, conditional upon her remaining within the city limits of Bridgeport.
